TWO HAPPY FAMILIES

GOVERNOR PAROLED WM. SCHREIBER AND WM. YORGER.

One a Bank Clerk Who Fled to Canada from Columbus—Sentence Contrary to Prosecutor's Promise.

Governor Matthews yesterday paroled William Schreiber from the Prison South, where he was sent for twelve years from Bartholomew county, in 1880, for embezzling the funds of the Columbus First National Bank. He pleaded guilty under promise of a light sentence. He was twenty-two years of age, and had the confidence of the bank officials. He fled to Canada, but was captured, and on the offer of the bank to refrain from prosecution if he would turn over the unpaid balance of the stolen money, and the promise of the prosecuting attorney, he pleaded guilty. The term of sentence surprised everybody, and the prosecuting attorney says he felt that the harsh sentence reflected upon him, as he had advised the prisoner that the court would take his youth, previous good habits and return of the property into account. He therefore joined in the petition, saying he felt sure the judge, if still living, would have done the same.

Governor Matthews has a letter from the widow of the judge saying that in his latter days he often expressed sorrow that he had dealt with Schreiber so severely. There were other circumstances that led the Governor to take a favorable view of the application. Young Schreiber was taken into the bank from a family of very moderate means and was given a position of trust. It is believed that his mother was committed in order to save the family home from levy and foreclosure of mortgage. He came home one night and found his father deeply distressed about the indebtedness on the house, amounting to $500, and unable to see what it might come from. The son said to his father that he should not worry about the matter and perhaps he, the son, could raise the money. The father, supposing the boy's position in the bank enabled him to borrow it, accepted the money. From this theft grew the other number of securities and the $300 cash, with which Schreiber fled to Canada. The boy's career began to be wild and open expenditures ran up far out of proportion to his income.

The Governor believes that the bank officials were remiss in their duties in not suspecting that their clerk, whose antecedents they knew, and whose resources they knew to be limited to his salary, was spending money that did not belong to him. He says the bank officials were, seemingly, the last people in town to see that something was wrong. The directors, after locating Schreiber in Canada, had a conference with him and made the proposition to him that if he would return to the bank's property they would use their influence for a light sentence. This they did, and it was this apparent agreement between them and the prosecuting attorney that made the judge indignant and led him to give the youth a sentence within two years of the limit. Schreiber's physical condition is now such as to lead a physician in whom the Governor has confidence to predict that another year of imprisonment would prove fatal to him, and as the family, the father now being dead, has a hard struggle to keep the wolf from the door, the Governor concluded that over four years of imprisonment is all that Schreiber should suffer. He is released, however, under parole and his liberty will continue only during good behavior.

REPORTS OF PUBLIC INSTITUTIONS.

Central Insane Hospital and Female Reformatory Annuals.

The forty-sixth annual report of the Central Hospital for the Insane, of Geo. F. Edenharter, superintendent, was filed yesterday with the Governor. The trustees report the estimated value of the property at $1,678,787.08. Out of the maintenance appropriation of $260,000 for the fiscal year the report shows that $259,962.51 was spent, leaving a balance of $37.57. The insurance recovered from the laundry fire was $6,000. The number of patients received during the year was 432; number discharged, 326; number on the rolls Oct. 31, 1,498. The average yearly per capita cost on the day average number in the hospital was $161.77, being $10.27 lower than the per capita cost of 1893, and the lowest in ten years. Out of the maintenance fund there was paid $15,236.61 for permanent improvements, made possible by this saving. The cost of the new laundry, complete, is estimated at $2,670, of which payments amounting to $7,110 have been made.

An appropriation of $12,500 to reimburse the maintenance fund is recommended, and also an appropriation of $10,000 for painting and other repairs needed to preserve the property. Other appropriations recommended are as follows: For greenhouse, $5,000; maintenance, $200,000; clothing, $12,000; repairs, $2,500.

Female Reformatory's Condition.

The report of the board of managers of the Indiana Reform School for Girls and Woman's Prison was also filed with the Governor, signed by Laura Beam, Claire A. Walker and Isabelle W. Roache. The board notes that the commitments have not increased in proportion with the growth of the population, and calls attention to the fact that the commitments of males to State institutions have greatly increased. The institution, it is stated, was never in so good a moral and physical condition as at present. The actual expense per capita for the year was $108. The credits to the institution from various sources were $14,460.03, leaving a net cost to the State of $93.97. The institution has no indebtedness. The board asks that the appropriation of $45,000 for maintenance and repairs be continued, and an appropriation of $4,935 is asked for new boilers and a boiler house, thus removing a great source of danger to the institution. An appropriation of $7,723 is asked for the purchase of a new building for a four-room administrative building.

The report of Miss Keely, superintendent, shows that, since the Reform School opened in 1873, 388 girls have been received. During the past year there were thirty-six commitments, and thirteen were sent out on tickets-of-leave and fourteen sent out on tickets-of-leave, making a total of sixty-two now so at liberty. Oct. 31, there were 192 girls in the school. In the Woman's Prison there were twenty-five received during the year, making a total of forty-six in the institution Oct. 31. There are comparatively few commitments and the superintendent argues that the influence of the institution must be maintained. Miss Keely discusses the property of a separate building for pupils and prisoners, but makes no specific recommendation except for special building for returned ticket-of-leave girls who, she says, ought to spend a month earning again the privileges of the school. She recommends authority to employ an agent to visit ticket-of-leave girls twice a year during their absence.

Incorporated Yesterday.

Articles of incorporation were yesterday filed with the Secretary of State as follows:

Articles of incorporation were yesterday filed with the Secretary of State as follows: Fort Wayne Gas Company, capital stock $200,000; directors, Charles F. Dieterich, Arthur B. Proal, Erazm J. Jerzmanowski, Henry C. Paul, Charles B. Stuart, Samuel Thorne, George C. Clark, Anthony N. Brady, Walter Ferguson, Hugh Dougherty and Charles E. Bash. Dickinson Gas and Oil Company, capital stock $50,000; directors, J. K. McCracken, J. D. Gumpke, F. H. Dickinson, John K. Mitchell, Fort Wayne

Glass Company, capital stock $50,000; directors, Louis A. Czerwiec, Warren R. Phillips and Joseph B. Rhoades.

Corporal Punishment in the Schools.

D. K. Goss, the new superintendent of the city schools, has adopted a plan to keep down the refractory youth. Instead of suspending him from school he is called up and a thrashing is administered. When the offender is too large for convenient handling by the teacher the janitor of the building is called in. Superintendent Goss says that under the common law the janitor of a school building has the same right to preserve order as the janitor of any other building. The number of corporal punishments have largely increased under Professor Goss's administration. During the month of October fifty-eight pupils felt the influence of the birch.

A CREDIT TO OUR CITY.

That's What the Alcazar Is—A Great Entertainment Combination.

The person who has seen and admired the newly-opened Alcazar will bear us out in the above remarks. Not alone are the fixtures and decorations far ahead of anything to be seen in the West, but their cigars are par excellence the best staple brands, fresh from the Cuban's table. A feature of this department is that they have in use the recent modern improvements for retaining the natural flavor of their cigars. In addition, they keep a full line of holiday goods, Cigar Cabinets, Cases, Pipes and Pouches.

Their massive double soda fountain is well worth a visit. Here they have a folder listing their drinks for their customers' convenience. The elegance of the list of drinks, hot and cold, with mineral waters, is quite tempting. The Alcazar's first department is even more exquisite—a perfect beauty. The assortment and rarity of flowers is a pleasure to behold. All kinds of cut flowers will be their specialty. The Alcazar barbers shop in the rear is nowhere excelled. Cleanliness and attention is their motto. The barbers are all experts—only having six chairs, there is no chance, and above all, the thing that makes itself felt to the customer is the reasonable prices. It is the intention of the proprietors to establish a business that will be patronized extensively. It is a sure winner, the Alcazar, 20 West Washington street, next door to News office.
